

Special Session 3. Youth as change agents for food security

Marwa Al Khairo

Marwa Al khairo has been working in the human and social development field for 15 years, focusing on the Middle East and North Africa region. She has worked and consulted for a number of international organizations and United Nations agencies, specializing in youth development, education and employability, and migration. She authored the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) commissioned "Regional Report on Knowledge for Youth-Led Climate Action in the Arab Region". Al Khairo is often invited to speak on youth and community development issues. She completed her graduate studies at Georgetown University in Arab Studies, and her undergraduate degree at George Mason University in Government and International Politics.

Hatim Aznag

Hatim Aznag is Morocco's climate justice advocate and activist. He is a member of the Arab Youth Council for Climate Change in Dubai and has led bilateral and multilateral communications and negotiations on climate change and climate diplomacy. Aznag is the Official Youth delegate of Morocco at COP and was appointed as a Commissioner in the United Nations High-Level Commission on Nairobi Summit on ICPD25 Follow-up. He also won the United Nations SDG Action Award – Mobilizer in 2018. In addition, he serves as a Regional Focal Point to the United Nations Major Group for Children and Youth (MGCY) in the Middle East, North Africa, and Western Asia, with a focus on gender equality.

